ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR LOYALTY MEETING ON FRIDAY

Committee on Arrangements Secure Professor Holt as Speaker.—Plan Big Street Parade.

Elaborate preparations for the great patriotic mass-meeting to be held at the Myers Theatre Friday evening at eight o'clock, are being carried out by the committee on arrangements under the leadership of John M. Whitehead as chairman. A street parade, led by the Power City Band, and comprising besides the Second Separate company and the Boy Scout organizations of the city large delegations of the various patriotic societies of Janesville will be the preliminary feature of the demonstration. Assembling at seven o'clock at the theatre, the parade, marching through the downtown streets, will return to the theatre for the evening program. Sergeant Wood, 11th Infantry U. S. A., who is on duty at the theatre, will be in charge of the parade. Replies from Congressman Lenoir and Senator Husting stated that these gentlemen would be unable to attend the meeting, but both expressed their appreciation of the invitation and their hopes that the demonstration would be all that is expected. Lenoir has to leave for Washington for the house caucus on Saturday, and Senator Husting has just left for Washington, where he will be engaged with business preliminary to the opening of congress. The inability of these men to speak in Janesville has in no way discouraged the backers of the mass-meeting, as it was extended that the invitation would be here, and the invitations, consequently, were more in the nature of complimentary requests.

Replying from Congressman Frank O. Holt, principal of the Edgerton high school, and an orator of more than usual ability, accepted the invitation to address the meeting. General Doe of Milwaukee will also speak, and William H. Dougherty will talk. Senator Whitehead, as chairman of the meeting, will deliver the opening address. A reply has not been received as yet from ex-Governor Francis E. McGovern, but the committee expected an answer to these speakers a number of local people will be on the program for short talks. A representative from the G. A. R. will also speak. The D. A. C. will bring the greetings of these organizations to the assembly, and others will make short impromptu talks, expressive of the spirit of the occasion. The committee on arrangements are also planning a number of features which they intend to hold as secrets until the meeting has opened. These include a small group of people among the people, the people will be asked to bring a small object to the meeting, which will be evidence most conclusively the spirit of Janesville.

The meeting has resulted from a natural tendency and desire for the expression of the people's patriotism, emanating from the people themselves. In the case of many large public gatherings, the desire to meet exists among some cause, but it is felt that the assembly Friday will be the actual demonstration of the people. Similar meetings have been held in other cities of the state, everywhere they have met with the same success which characterized the meeting here. The evening of the meeting will be a grand affair, with the participation of thousands of people. Other cities which are planning meetings are: Madison, Green Bay, La Crosse, Oshkosh, Racine, Superior, Appleton, Kenosha, Marinette and Wausau.

BASEBALL BACKERS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Every Man Who Has Contributed to Support of Team for Coming Season Urged to Attend.

Over ninety shares of stock have been sold to date in the campaign to raise money with which to install a team in the Central Wisconsin league this summer. At half past seven this evening in the offices of the Commercial club, there will be a meeting, which every stockholder is urged to attend. The meeting is of vital importance to the success of the local team, for directors will be elected at this time and the organization of the team will be completed. The financials, the arrangements for games and the many details of the conduct of the baseball season. It is the sincere desire of the local men who have taken upon themselves the fostering of the movement for a summer ball, that the directorship shall be thoroughly representative of the many who have contributed to its support. Business men and sportsmen must be combined to insure the success of the venture locally, and the election of a satisfactory and capable board of directors hinges entirely upon the attendance at tonight's meeting. "The men who have so generously bought shares," said one of the backers, "should not feel that their obligation is ended. A team under the management of men who are not familiar with the conditions in the baseball world, and who are incapable of handling the financial end in an efficient manner, will never be a success and will never create great interest in the community. The shares of stock have been distributed among almost as many men. We want that many people at the meeting tonight."

MAN GOES TO JAIL ON WESTERNER'S PLEA

Montana Rancher Seeks Justice for Youth Who Suffers as Result of Another's Jealousy.

A typical western rancher who missed his calling because he did not go to for law, was in municipal court this morning, and because of his valiant plea for justice Albert Buggs, a local young man, was sentenced to ten days and thirty days additional if he does not pay a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs. Intoxication, but behind were made against Buggs, but behind the green-eyed goddess of love, Miss Jealousy. As the story unfolded out Buggs developed the disposition of a young hornet when he saw Francis Ryan, a Grand Hotel bellboy, deliver a note to a local hotel waitress at the corner of Milwaukee and Main streets last evening shortly after ten o'clock. Buggs had previously kept company with the young lady who was to receive the note, but she seemed the romance wanted on her part. His ire was roused by Ryan's actions and he promptly ran across the street, beat him up and knocked him down the stairs. The girl told the westerner—his name is Mason and he hails from Montana—that she wanted Buggs, as Ryan had not done a thing on the way of the way. Mason kept an eye on Buggs while the police were coming. He appeared in court this morning and told the judge about it. The judge sentenced Ryan to six months in the county jail on charge of desertion. Ernest Ward was apparently not disgraced when he was brought into the station last night. In court this morning he had a black, blue and green eye that extended all over one side of his face. After being fined five and he still had some money in his clothes. He produced a roll that would choke a sewer and his fine, Leo Bag and Dickie Edgerton, were each fined five and costs or seven days in jail.

RED CROSS WOULD BOOST MEMBERSHIP

Members Undertake Membership Campaign in Effort to Raise More Money With Which to Meet Needs of Time.

In the face of the aggravated international crisis into which the United States has been plunged, an urgent call has been sent out by the National Red Cross society for more funds and more materials with which to prepare for war. The local chapter, which has its short history has been organized by the efforts of its members, is meeting this call with a campaign for increased membership, especially among the business men of the city. This venture was agreed upon at a meeting of the executive committee of the local branch held last Friday, and since then preparations for the campaign have been carried forth under the direction of Mrs. F. C. Grant and Mrs. S. M. Smith. This morning a number of ladies canvassed the downtown sections in the beginning of the campaign, which will continue throughout the week.

The present membership numbers about two hundred, and of this number at least seven-eighths are women. These are the members who do a large work as well, having made a large number of hospital supplies which are being shipped to the base hospital in this region. Located in Milwaukee, Lackford funds has hampered this work considerably, however, and the present campaign is planned to secure more money. It is hoped that the membership will be increased to at least five hundred in the next few days, a goal, which, if reached, will give the local chapter plenty of money with which to continue its work. One-half of the money raised in membership is sent to the national organization, the other half being kept by the Janesville chapter.

At noon today a number of the ladies repeated a most successful morning business meeting was held being followed by a morality play. "Everygirl" was the play given. Those who took part in the play were Majorie Hugu- tin, Charlotte Connell, Ruth Black, Ellen Spohn, Lillian Bahr, Lillian Hunt, Frances Spencer, Mable Web- ber and Thelma Schaefer. At six o'clock a two course dinner was served. The table was decorated in pink and white.

TWO MONTHS OF FREE DENTISTRY COST $145

Committee in Charge of Clinic for School Children Submits Report to City Commission.

During the months of February and March the free dental clinic for poor school children, cost $145, according to the report submitted yesterday to the city commission by A. S. Krolz, chairman of the Civic League's free dental clinic committee, which was accepted and filed by the council. This amount was for salary to Dr. L. J. Woodward and for divers supplies. An order for $100 was ordered drawn in favor of the committee. Although Chief of the Fire Department H. C. Klein, city electrician and building inspector gave an adverse recommendation relative to grant- ing of permission to John A. Weber, West Milwaukee street, to erect a small addition to the front of his dwelling because the plans and specifications did not comply with the fire regulations, this site being in the restricted territory, the commission saw fit to permit Mr. Weber to make the addition. It was his opinion that the addition was not a greater hazard at the present time in permit- ting the addition, since permission was given Weber a year ago to make re- pairs to the building.

FIND WHERE HARTIN JOINED U. S. ARMY

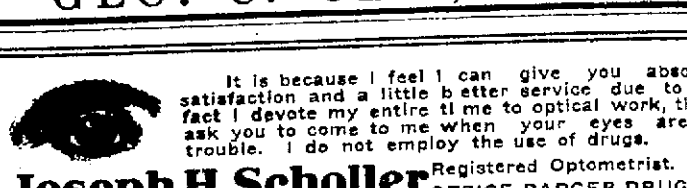

After Leaving California Murderer Traveled Northeast and Signed at Fort Douglas, Utah.

Fred Hartin, Beloit, ex-convict, murder- er of H. A. Krause in a down-river camp last fall, and now a fugitive from justice, a deserter from the United States army and a quarry of the government as well as a Rock county, Utah, it has been learned by Chief of Police Fred Gillman of Ex-ansville, who has been active search for the murderer. Mr. Gillman, upon the receipt of an army bulletin bearing the photograph of Hartin, and announcing his name as Stevens, and its immediate recognition not only by him but by the local police and at Beloit, immediately wrote to Fort Leavenworth to learn of the man and to make known that he was wanted for murder in Rock county.

After joining the signal corps at Fort Douglas he was sent to Leaven- worth for training. He deserted after serving less than three months. "It was his roving disposition," believes Mr. Gillman, when questioned as to purpose for Hartin's deserting. "It is a fact that he was in California, too," he says. The hunt extended to the Pacific coast, but when officers arrived there Hartin had moved on, pre- sumably northwest. Apparently ag- grieved to his misfortune in the army he joined the U. S. Air Corps, and after a few months of quietness the wander- ing persuaded him to flee again. It is felt that he might join the army or navy again in hopes of eluding the search the federal government makes for deserters.

AGRICULTURAL and GARDEN DEPT

ALLEN B. WEST, Director

I am informed that you are interested in alfalfa. I have sent you cards. As to seed, the winter of 1915 and 1916 proved so disastrous to most alfalfa, the Wisconsin Alfalfa Order is recommending the use of the variegated alfalfa, which withstands the winters much better than the ordinary purple varieties.

There are three kinds—the Grinn, Baltic and the Cossack. They are all expensive seeds, but it is much cheaper to use this seed than that of the common alfalfa, because in addition to the fact that the variegated variety is not so easily run out by the native grasses which compete so strongly with the common alfalfa as to make it necessary to plow up most fields after three or four years.

Of the three kinds of variegated alfalfa, the Grinn, the Baltic and the Cossack, the latter is claimed to be even harder than the Grinn, but I do think that has been tested out in Wisconsin sufficiently to be sure that such a claim is warranted. It is an ordinary seed, but is advised by the Alfalfa Order of Wisconsin to get at least a little of a variegated variety to sow beside the other in order to test out the values of the two for themselves. Be sure to buy of reliable dealers in order not to pay high price for common seed.

As to a nurse crop experience has shown that 325 tests made in 1913 by members of the Alfalfa Order, there were twice as many failures when seeded with a nurse crop as when alfalfa was seeded alone.

In Bulletin 253 we find these directions for sowing, twenty pounds of seed being used to the acre.

The seed can be applied with a hand seeder or a grain seeder attached to a plow. A slant tooth harrow should be run over the ground after seeding so as to cover the seed lightly. Alfalfa should be sown less than an inch deep in dry soils or the tiny plantlets will be unable to push through to the surface. On light sandy soils, a covering of from one to two inches is desirable.

The seed should be firm with a roller after seeding. Always finish by using a fine-tooth harrow so as to leave the surface loose enough to prevent evaporation.

If you are going to grow alfalfa you would better join the Alfalfa Order (Sec. L. F. Graber, Madison). The fee is small and entitles you to the fee of the advice of experts and to the experience of other growers throughout the state who are constantly learning new things.

This alfalfa crop, if any rate, should have the following bulletins which may be obtained on application to the Agricultural Experiment Station, Madison.

Always consult an architect

—he will save you much on materials and equipment

During these months of fluctuations in and scarcity of certain building materials, it is particularly important to get the help of an experienced architect.

As a "clearing house" of building experiences, and knowing thoroughly the markets and most practical equipment available, the architect will get the results you seek at least outlay!

He will save you in these times more money than ever before.

The far-sighted architect also studies the trend of building laws and future needs of house-keeping or business. He arranges the building so that it shall suit most other folks in case you later rent or sell.

An instance of his money-saving judgment—

The architect will more than earn his fee by making the radiator heating outfit cost you less than old fashioned heating devices by omitting from the plans the extra chimneys, needless mantels, useless inner doors, clumsy double window sash, weather strips, storm doors, etc. He will show you how to place your radiators and

He knows how to pipe to do 100% heating work. He knows how to measure the volume of heat required, and will select the special pattern of IDEAL Boiler yielding utmost heat from cheapest fuel in your locality—whether mine-run soft coal, pea coal, coke, lignites, gas, oil, etc. No need to burn expensive grades of fuel!

He knows the importance of comfort, up-keep, and depreciation

There are buildings in every county of the United States which are heated by IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators. The smallest cottage as well as the largest sky-scraper, or business block, enjoys this economical, labor-saving, cleanly warmth. The architect does not have to go far to place before you a hundred testimonials as to the durability and wonderful heating service that an IDEAL outfit gives. So simple a child can run one. The outfits will last a century or so—no depreciation.

No one accepting such large responsibilities charges so little as does the architect—for his is largely a profession of public service. You should therefore take advantage of his "clearing house" of ideas and experiences by consulting him, and let him select the pattern and size of IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators that will exactly fit your building needs.

superficial evils, that it brings out the highest qualities of the individual and of the nation. In its cleansing fires the gold is separated from the dross, and a great deal of false metal that has been hidden away in the folds of the nation's life is exposed in all its worthlessness. Liberty is worth all its fighting for, and there is no other way of getting it but by direct rebellion, or, as in the case of Russia, as the side issue of a war in progress. We may be sure that had there been no war, the old regime in Russia would have continued with all its corruption and its fatalistic contentment, and what if this heaven begins to work in Germany? Already the world's atmosphere seems thunderous with the reverberant shaking of thrones. Large bodies are difficult to set in motion, lacking cohesion and direction. But once they get moving their possibilities are infinite. What is a dynasty—any dynasty—before a force so incalculable?

EDWIN F. CARPENTER.

In the death of Edwin F. Carpenter the city has lost another of its old landmarks. The ranks of the departed settlers are rapidly being depleted and the silent city on the hill records the names of an expiring generation with names of an expiring generation. Mr. Carpenter was one of the few remaining men whose active life for half a century had been devoted to the city which he loved and which he delighted to call his home.

His sturdy character and cordial greeting were characteristics which won for him a place in the hearts of the people. Mr. Carpenter was an optimist and his hopeful outlook on life was an inspiration to the home and to the circle of friends with whom he came in close contact.

When disease prostrated him and rendered him helpless, he was still hopeful and his fight he made for life was heroic. In the final struggle, and just before he passed from consciousness, he said to his wife, who had traveled the long journey with him: "Don't worry; I'm coming out of this all right." And then his eyes were closed in the last long sleep.

The impress of the lives of these old veterans, who have lived out their lives in the city, continues to bless the city generation. The impress of this life will continue to be felt for good. The breaking up of another old home is one of the penalties of age, and the loss to this little family circle calls for sympathy in generous measure.

If We Did as We Feel Like Doing.
It was one of the first fine spring mornings and Jones, stepping out of his front door, felt buoyant and gay. Yielding to a little impulse of the moment he placed his hands on the porch rail and ventured over into the yard below. Perhaps it was the smell of the moist earth as his heels dug into the lawn or perhaps it was something else. Whatever it was it seemed to take more than a score of years from his age.

It was certainly a fine morning, thought Jones, as he seized his hat and with a few swings sallied it at Brown, a passing neighbor. Brown grabbed the hat and with a little squeal of delight kicked it over a fence into the Willoughby's yard. Jones yelled, "Oh, you sucker!" and while clambering over the fence

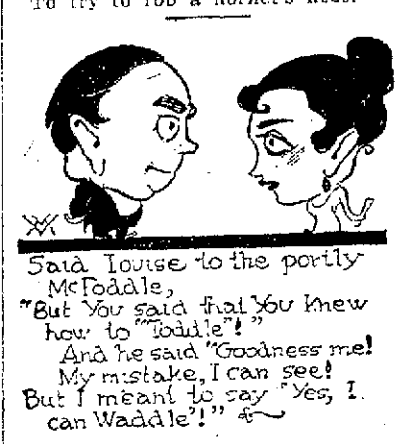

Brown whacked him. Then they both raced down to the corner, Jones making wild grabs at Brown's hat. While sitting on the curb waiting for a car a small dog came up to them and, after a few coy wriggles, began to growl and knead at Jones's shoe strings. "I'd take him home and keep him, but I ain't allowed to have a dog," said Jones. "I'll take him! I can keep him," said Brown, and Jones grabbed the dog while Brown tried to get it away. "Let him go, gee whizz!" said Jones. "He came up to me first, didn't he? Gee whizz!" They quarreled for some while and Jones had made a line with his toe for Brown to step over when a policeman stepped up and wanted to know if a couple of poor fellows didn't have a home to go to. Brown turned to the man and tried to look stern. Jones put the dog down and dusted the dirt off his vest. The officer passed on. "Wouldn't care to have him run us in," giggled Jones. "It's such a fine morning to be out!"

A Rhapsody On Spring

By Mrs. Abbie Helms.

At the first hint of spring in the air and the first call of the robins, the normal woman feels the lure of the great outdoors and is apt to marshal the forces of the household in an inspection of the back yard. The possibilities of a kitchen garden are discussed, the master of the house, seeing no escape, gives the benefit of his sage advice on the subject. The kid dies are interested and peek at the plan of the planting of their penny of land, for the planting of their penny packages of seed already planned for them by the clubwomen of the city. The word has gone out that six kinds of vegetable seeds and that the same of flower seeds are being put up for their use. An investigation of the subject of hardy shrubbery and vines is made with a view of hiding in unsightly objects, and alluring pictures in catalogues are brought out and admired.

The mountainous areas of ashes and old cans are viewed with disfavor in the back yard and the singular fact is borne in on one's consciousness how much worse the neighbor's yard looks than one's own. Plans are general for cleaning up day and for a general restoration of the premises and then we turn our attention to the front of the house. We view with the countenance of proprietorship the work place of the squabbling of men and the city teams at work on the streets. For is not the community our larger home and the cleanliness and sanitation of the city our larger work?

How bare and naked and unsightly things are apt to look in the first freshness of spring. The alleys with their accumulation of debris and ash-lots with their piles of waste material, all these evidences of neglect and lack of thrift, should rapidly disappear with the coming of mild weather. And what can not be done with the inspiration of numbers! Co-operation is the secret of civic efficiency, and when proper pride in one's city and willingness to work up to the standard of willingness we cannot accomplish.

The American people are apt to have that sturdy independence that wants to "go it alone" that feeling of personal liberty of action, that brooks no interference. But the larger and wiser idea of city planning is beginning to be evidenced in the feeling of "going it best for all."

Many of the new cities, especially in the west, have building restrictions and many of them also have whole districts set out with trees and shrubs according to a set plan.

If you build in that addition you must build along certain lines, and previous agreed upon in from of your lot. The city planners know the value of masses in getting an effect. An avenue of palms, or eucalyptus trees or oaks is so much more beautiful than a district where bungalows prevail and apartment houses are barred, has a certain air of dignity which is a distinct asset to the city.

This plan of co-operation in neighborhood ethics ought to be carried a step further and incorporated into the painting of dwellings. It has been suggested by an expert in that line of work, that if almost an affront to the passerby, if one house in a row has received a spring coat of bright color, to have its next neighbor appear in red, dark brown or grey would harmonize so much better and make the completion of colors more complete. The time may come when a whole block of houses may adopt a color scheme, which they will adhere to in both paint and decorations. What could be lovelier than varying shades of grey and white color, for example, and green and pink tulips for early spring effect, and pink geraniums and candy tufts for summer blossoms? Would not a whole block of houses be a thing of beauty with that idea in mind? But for the present at least, we can try to co-operate with our neighbors as best we may, and in civic affairs as they materialize from time to time we may have the larger view and do our "bit" when we are asked to do so in the interests of community welfare.

Yes! Spring is the time to dream dreams and see visions of a "Bigger and Better Janesville."

EDWIN F. CARPENTER IS CALLED BY DEATH

PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME ON EAST STREET FOLLOWING PARALYTIC STROKE.

LONG RESIDENT OF CITY

Had Passed the Three Score Years and Ten—One of the Oldest Practicing Attorneys in State.

Edwin F. Carpenter, one of Janesville's oldest and most respected citizens, closed his eyes in the sleep that knows no earthly awakening, shortly before nine Tuesday evening, following a paralytic stroke suffered two weeks ago. His end came quietly and he went to the world beyond, having lived his three score years and ten, the greater portion of it here in Rock County and Janesville.

News of his death will be learned with sorrow and regret by the many friends of long standing and the sympathy of loving friends and acquaintances is extended to the wife and sons left to mourn the loss of a loving and devoted husband and parent.

EDWIN F. CARPENTER

Mr. Carpenter's demise takes from our midst another of the older and well beloved citizens whose place will be hard to fill.

Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at two-thirty from his late residence, 115 East street, south, and the interment at Oak Hill cemetery.

Since 1871 a member of the Wisconsin bar, Mr. Carpenter was one of the oldest practicing lawyers in Rock County and the city of Janesville. He came to a resident of the state for more than fifty years, having come here alone when a young man, and having been educated chiefly in the Wisconsin schools. This practice in the state of Vermont, in Washington county, May 2, 1845. He is the only survivor of the six children born to Ira and Rhoda (Spofford) Carpenter. At the age of seventeen he came out to Wisconsin, alone, and entered upon his career without the aid of family or friends. He received his native state education, and on reaching Wisconsin entered the Beloit academy. After the classical course in the college, and was graduated in the class of 1870. In 1871, following a course of law reading, he was admitted to the bar and earned his first practice in independent practice.

In 1873 he became an associate in practice with J. B. Cassoday, one of the eminent members of the state bar. The firm being known as Cassoday and Carpenter. Mr. Carpenter was associated with Mr. Cassoday until the latter's death in 1884. Subsequently, he entered upon his career without the aid of family or friends. He received his native state education, and on reaching Wisconsin entered the Beloit academy. After the classical course in the college, and was graduated in the class of 1870. In 1871, following a course of law reading, he was admitted to the bar and earned his first practice in independent practice.

For two terms Mr. Carpenter served as circuit clerk of Janesville, and was circuit court commissioner of Rock County for more than nineteen years. In politics he has been a staunch republican since the sixties. Mr. Carpenter married in this city, Miss Emma A. Lappin, daughter of Thomas and Mary Jane Lappin. To this union two children were born: Edwin Lappin, born October 11, 1873, and Henry P., born October 11, 1879.

MAJORITY OF CRIME TRACED TO SALOONS

CAPT. WIARD CLAIMS

"Dry" Speaker Replies to "Wet" Argument That Prohibition Does Not Prohibit—Talks Again Tonight.

A story of the "Conquest of Crime" was given by Captain Wiard last evening at the risk when he told many personal experiences of the triumph of law and order against thievery, outlaws and even organized thugs in the pursuit of his profession. To the often expressed idea that the laws closing the saloons cannot be the force entered a formal protest. From the picture shown at the opening of the program of the capitol at Washington which the speaker said symbolized the authority of the law, to the stately banner exhibited at its close, the whole power of the nation is back of the enforcement of the laws in regard to having "due reverence for the law," the expressed opinion of the captain of the mounted police, Regina, Saskatchewan, who he could enforce with his command any law on the statutes and the words of the captain of the Texas Rangers that the laws would be enforced on whoever was concerned.

The testimony of officials everywhere in regard to the arrest of transgressors of the law shows that the enforcement of the law is a force evolved from the depths of the past to stay the steps of progress. Thieves some times escape with their booty and times are always punished but the reason there had been no thought to repeal the laws and let the criminals go free.

The speaker gave a long list of saloons closed up and saloon keepers arrested for illegal practices, in which he was personally concerned. He showed a picture of a big audience while standing on a water wagon. He told the voters at that time that if they would vote the "dry" ticket, they would help to clean up the "blacks" and three months after the "drys" had won in the election he came back to the city and secured evidence against 40 or 50 saloon keepers, who were run away from the city.

Two or three months after the "drys" had won in the election he came back to the city and secured evidence against 40 or 50 saloon keepers, who were run away from the city. Community Meeting. The meeting of the afternoon was held at the home of Mrs. F. J. J. on East street, and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Florence Breese and Miss Keller. Mrs. Wiard was the speaker of the afternoon and said that her informal remarks were addressed to a lecture, but only were made to help the ladies to formulate some thought along these lines. Making some one else happy was one of the greatest jobs of any of us, and that was what the women were doing.

They were caring for the children. "The flowers of God's garden which he has planted here. The question was, 'Are we protecting them right?' We have a duty to perform in the betterment of humanity and we can do it alone, each of us is a link in God's great chain. The hard duty brings the richest blessing, the less work we do the sweeter the results. We must go to the Fountain Head where there is always a feast of good things if we only go to God's table to partake.

Mysterious Gray Car Stands On Bluff St.

Who owns a sporty little grey roadster with classy wire wheels, a motor and with a 1917 Wisconsin tag No. 1267?

The police department is anxious to find out. So are any number of the observant pedestrians who notice the characteristics of the car, the little things and who have observed the car has been standing on North Bluff street, near Milwaukee, across from the Gazette office, for over two hours. It was left there early yesterday afternoon.

The attention of the police was called to it this morning. It is being watched in the hopes of an explanation of the mystery of its being parked in the same place throughout the night being explained.

Along with this afternoon the theory grew stronger that the machine had been stolen and abandoned here by the thieves. If it is not moved by tonight it will be taken in charge by the police.

Some Verbal Slips.

Without being a pedant one may note many inaccuracies in the use of words in his own speech and in that of others. Perhaps "excuse" for "ardon" is the most common of these. "Anxious" is used where "eager" is meant is another frequent error, and more of these "slips" are spoken incorrectly than correctly. Ordinarily when "procure" or "get" is intended "secure" is said. These instances do not come within even the category of distorted sayings. They are simply words misapplied.

Why They Are Cleaner.

"Women's minds are much cleaner than men's," said a woman to her husband.

"They ought to be," replied her husband.

"They change them so much often."

EDUCATORS PRESENT OUTLINE OF SURVEY FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

Aim and Problems of Work Explained to Committees of City Federation and Commercial Club.

An informal meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the high school, when the members of the board of education and the committees on education appointed from the Commercial club and the City Federation had an opportunity to meet the gentlemen engaged in the survey of the local situation.

Superintendent Faust explained the condition of affairs in a few words, saying that this meeting was preliminary to the real work of the survey, that those conducting the survey had nothing authoritative to report at present, but that the public would undoubtedly like to know that the work was proceeding on a broad, comprehensive basis. The members of the survey committee wished, he said, to get acquainted with the local officials and with the public sentiment of the community which they represented, that they may feel better qualified to know what to advise in the matter. Investigation has been made of the state of the general plan and equipment, not only buildings and equipment, but the general plan and organization, as outlined in other surveys of the state educational institutions.

At the different gentlemen working at present in the city on this board were introduced and explained the kind of work they were doing, and some of the results taken up. Mr. some of the engaged in listing the school buildings, tabulating their capacity, and making accurate calculations of their points of advantage and disadvantage, and the comparative expense of the different plans will be figured out. The size of the schools, the height and position of the windows, the lighting and ventilation in consideration. In some of this work, the children have been encouraged to co-operate in helping to solve some of the arithmetical problems presented.

Then there have been tests of efficiency to see if the children have been really doing good work, and comparison made with the work in other schools of the same grade. The courses of study, the playgrounds and other things of like nature are all taken into account.

OBITUARY.

Margaret A. Joyce. Many people were shocked today to learn of the sudden death of Margaret A. Joyce, which occurred late yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joyce, 1055 Jerome avenue. Miss Joyce was a most lovable girl, with a natural capacity for friendship which brought her close to many people. She was a woman who had been employed at Razook's candy shop, and here her associations with the patrons made her many acquaintances, and some warm friendships. She was admired by all who knew her, for her courtesy and consideration. Pretty and bright, her loss will be keenly felt by many Janesville people.

For some time Miss Joyce has not been in the best of health, but no anxiety was felt for her condition. On Monday evening she complained of a headache, and yesterday afternoon retired to her room to lie down. She was found dead a few hours later.

She was born in Janesville, April 22, 1896, and has spent her entire life here. She was married William Groat of Janesville this spring.

Miss Joyce is survived by her father, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Skelly, all of Janesville.

The funeral will be conducted at St. Mary's church, Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Miss Bridget McGuire. Following a brief illness, Miss Bridget McGuire passed away at her home, 1027 North Washington street, yesterday afternoon at half past two.

NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeton, N. J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as they used them with such good results." Mrs. MILDRED T. CRAWFORD, 322 Harmony St., Penn's Grove, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ailments of women such as irregular menstruation, inflammation, backache, painful periods, nervousness and kidney troubles.

HEART OF THE SUNSET

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers," "The Iron Trail," "The Silver Horde," Etc.

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

"Blood of my heart!" breathed the general.

"So! That is what you meant a moment ago. That is why you refuse my embraces. No, no! Other women have feared me, and I have laughed in their hair as they tore at my arms, but you—you will be my wife, and all Mexico shall bow at your feet." He checked her denial with a gesture. "Wait until I tell you the vision I have seen during these days of despair. I see Mexico made whole by my hands; a land of peace and plenty; a people with one name upon their lips—the name of Longorio the Deliverer; and you as the first lady of them all. You know me for a man of tremendous ability in every line.

Well, I know myself, too. I have measured myself carefully, and I have no weakness. There is no other like me. Pancho Gomez? Bah! He is a red-handed bandit of no culture. Candelaria, his chief? The idol of the ignorant and a dreamer of no force. Potosi? He is president today, but what of tomorrow? Those who surround him are weaklings, and he stumbles toward oblivion. Who will succeed him? Who will issue from the coming struggle as the dominant figure of Mexico? Who but that military genius who checks the Yankee hordes and saves the fatherland? I am he. Fate points the path of glory and I am her man of destiny. You see, then, what I bring you—power, position, riches. Riches? Caramba! Wait until my hands are in the treasury. I will load you with gold and jewels, and I will make you the richest woman in the world. Senora, I offer you dominion. I offer you the president's palace and Chapultepec. And with all that, I offer you such passionate love as no woman of history ever possessed."

He paused, spent by the force of his own intensity; it was plain that he expected an immediate surrender.

Alaire's lips parted in the faintest of mocking smiles. "You have great confidence in yourself," she said.

"Yes, I know myself as no one knows me."

"Why do you think I care for you?" Longorio's eyes opened. His expression plainly showed that he could not imagine any woman in her senses falling to adore him.

"Don't you take much for granted?" Alaire insisted.

The Mexican shook his head. Then his face lightened. "Ah! Now I see. Your modesty forbids you to acknowledge your love—is that it? Well, I know that you admire me, for I can see it. All women admire me, and they all end by loving me." His chest arched imperceptibly; with a slender finger he delicately smoothed his black eyebrows.

Alaire felt a wild impulse to laugh, but was glad she had subdued it when he continued, "I am impetuous, but impetuosity has made me what I am. I act, and then mold fate to suit my own ends. Opportunity has delivered to me my heart's desire, and I will not be cheated out of it. Among the men I brought with me to La Perla is a priest. He is dirty, for I caught him as he was fleeing toward the border; but he is a priest, and he will marry us tonight."

Alaire managed to gasp, "Surely you are not in earnest."

"Indeed I am! That is why I insisted that you dine with me this evening. I cannot waste more time here, for necessity calls me away. You shall go as my wife."

"Do you think I would remarry on the very day I find myself a widow?" "The world will never know."

And exercise your power until you tired and were ready to surrender."

Alaire raised her head proudly, her nostrils dilated, her eyes ablaze with hostility. "This is very humiliating, but you force me to tell you that I hate you."

Longorio was incredulous rather than offended. He drew himself up to his full height and smiled, saying: "That is impossible." Then, ignoring her impatience: "Come! You cannot deceive me. The priest is waiting."

When Alaire spoke next, it was with an expression and with a tone of such loathing that his yellow face paled. "Your conceit is insufferable," she breathed.

After a brief struggle with himself, the Mexican cried hoarsely: "I will not be refused. You wish me to tame you, eh? Good! You have found your master. Make your choice, then. Which shall it be, surrender or—compulsion?"

"So! You have been lying, as I thought. Compulsion! Now the real Longorio speaks."

He flung up his hands as if to ward off his fury. "No! Have I not made myself clear? I shall embrace you only with the arms of a husband, for this is not the passion of a moment, but of a lifetime, and I have myself to consider. The wife of Mexico's next president must be above reproach; there must be no scandal, no secrets hidden away for enemies to unearth. She must stand before the people as a perfect woman; she must lend prestige to his name. When I speak of compulsion, then, I mean the right of a husband."

Alaire uttered an exclamation of disgust and turned away, but he intercepted her, saying: "You cannot hold me at bay. It is destiny. You shall be mine tonight. Think a moment! We are alone in the heart of a country lacking in every law but mine. Your friends do not know where you are, and, even if they knew, they could not help you. Your nation's protest would avail nothing. Outside of these walls are enemies who will not let you leave this house except under the protection of my name."

"Then I shall never leave it," she told him.

For the first time Longorio spoke roughly: "I lose patience. In God's name have I not waited long enough? My strength is gone." Impulsively he half encircled her with his thin arms, but she seemed armored with ice, and he dropped them. She could hear him grind his teeth. "I dare not lay hands upon you," he chattered. "Angel of my dreams, I am faint with longing. To love you and yet to be denied; to feel myself aflame and yet to see you cold; to be halted at the very doors of Paradise! What torture!"

The fellow's self-control in the midst of his frenzy frightened Alaire more than did his wildest avowals; it was in something of a panic that she said:

"One moment you tell me I am safe, the next you threaten me. You say I am free, and yet you coerce me. Prove your love. Let me go—"

"No! No! I shall call the priest," Longorio turned toward the door, but half-way across the floor he was halted by a woman's shriek which issued from somewhere inside the house. It was repeated. There was an outburst in a masculine voice, then the patter of footsteps approaching down the tiled hallway. Dolores burst into her mistress's presence, her face blanched, her hair disordered. She flung herself into Alaire's arms, crying:

"Senora! Save me! God's curse on the ruffian. Oh—"

"Dolores!" Alaire exclaimed. "What has happened?"

Longorio demanded, irritably: "Yes. Why are you yelling like this?"

"A man—See! One of those dirty peladors. Look where he tore my dress! I warned him, but he was like a tiger. Benito will kill him when he learns—"

"Calm yourself. Speak sensibly. Tell me what happened."

"One of those miserable soldiers who came today—pig!" Dolores was shaking, her voice was shrill. "He followed me about like a cat, purring and grinning and saying the most horrible things. Just now, when I went to your room, he was waiting in the darkness, and he seized me. My money!"

"A soldier? One of my men?" Longorio was incredulous.

Alaire turned upon him with a blazing anger in her face. "Is this more of your protection?" she stormed. "I give you and your men the freedom of my ranch, and you insult me while they rob my women."

are ignored her accusation, inquiring of the elder woman, "Who was the fellow?"

"How do I know," Dolores sobbed. "He is—a thick, black fellow with a scar on his lip, like a snarl."

"Felipe!" "Yes, Felipe! I believe they called him that."

Longorio strode to the end of the living room, flung open the wooden shutters of a window, and, leaning far out, whistled sharply on his fingers.

"Oiga! Teniente! Ho, you fellows!" he shouted.

From the darkness a voice answered; a man, evidently on guard, came running.

"Call old Pancho," the general directed. "Tell him to bring me black Felipe, the fellow with the torn lip. Quick!"

"Yes, general," came the voice; then the metallic rattle of spurs and accoutrements as the sentry trotted away.

Dolores had completely broken down now, and Alaire was trying to comfort her. Their guest remained by the window, frowning. After a time there sounded a murmur of voices, then a shuffling of feet in the hall; Alaire's friend, the old lieutenant, appeared in the doorway, saluting. Behind him were several others.

"Here is Felipe," he announced. "Bring him in."

A sudden frowning man in soiled uniform was pushed forward, and Dolores hid her face against her mistress's shoulder.

"Is this the fellow?" Longorio inquired.

Dolores nodded.

"Well, what have you to say for yourself?" The general transixed his trooper with a stare; then, as the latter seemed bereft of his voice, "Why did you enter this house?"

IN THE SPRING

When Energy and Vitality are at the Lowest Ebb.

(By S. C. Bower, M. D.)

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin and feel the exhilaration of real good, pure, rich, red blood in their veins.

The best insurance against ill of all kinds. Almost all diseases come from impure and impoverished blood. It is to be noticed in the pale or pimply face, the tired, haggard appearance or the listless manner.

Purify the blood and you will learn the joy of living. This is the time to clean house and freshen up a bit. First, stimulate the liver into a thorough house-cleaning by taking a purely vegetable laxative made up and extracted from May-apple, leaves of Aloe, root of Jalap, made into a Pleasant Pellet, first put up by Dr. Pierce nearly 50 years ago and sold by druggists.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned, herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made from Golden Seal root, Blood-root, Oregon grape root, Queen's root, Black Cherry bark extracted with glycerine and made into tablets and liquid. If druggist does not keep the tablets send $1.00 to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

The pain of neuralgia is the cry of the starved nerves for food. Feed the nerves on pure blood and you cure the disease. In order to insure pure blood and to build up the system try this tonic known as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.—Advertisement.

Elsie came home from a neighbor's house munching a chocolate.

It was to be used to do this, but it was not recommended "a visiting young manager of a high club," the former manager of the club, who was in charge of the stability of clubs. He also endorsed a note for $2,500 to help this manager stage a match. These things were done in a hotel in the city, and it was finally determined to end the game for all time when the evidence was all in. The promoter was arrested. The promoter was arrested and is damned and there is little wonder. The way promoters and managers, not to speak of the buyers, are to be taken care of is enough to make anything but a hiding.

And in passing, it is enough to prove that a guide to citizens of New York City is a good thing. In New York for the past year, a license to conduct bouts in Madison Square Garden, Harry Pollard gave a perfect information to the public, who were to be taken care of.
